SUPPLEMENT TO CASE MATERIALS

*Kelly Simon, As Administrator of the Estate of Jordan Simon v.
Ruffed Grouse High School, LLC*

The deadline for submitting questions has passed.

THIS IS THE FINAL SUPPLEMENT AND THE OFFICIAL MEMO THAT MAY BE USED IN THE COMPETITION. THIS FINAL SUPPLEMENT MAY BE USED AS PROVIDED BELOW:

Supplemental Materials – Evidentiary Value:

The supplemental clarifications may be used in all the same ways (including for impeachment and as testimony) that the main body of the case materials are used. Answers clarifying a witness statement are to be treated as follows: Where necessary, information will be attributed to a specific witness in which case the clarifying information becomes part of that witness' statement. If the clarifying information is not attributed to a single witness, assume that all witnesses have this knowledge. The practical implication of this is that if a witness is challenged as to his or her knowledge reflected in the statement, he or she may refer to these supplemental clarifications to show knowledge. (See Rule of Competition 3.3)

NOTE TO THE SUPPLEMENT

Questions have been divided into "Case Clarifications" and "Rule and Evidentiary Interpretations." As with the past years' supplements, some case clarification questions have been answered with a general response: "The case materials provide all of the information available to answer this question."

That response sometimes means that there is enough information already in the materials to answer the question asked; more often, the response means that the question was not addressed in the case materials and the answer to the question is unnecessary for purposes of the competition. The case materials committee has tried to fill in unintentional gaps in the case materials without creating too much new information that might burden teams preparing for the competition.

Teams should be careful at trial if they ask questions which the problem does not answer in detail because, on direct examination, such answers might elicit an "unfair extrapolation" objection and, if asked on cross exam, the questioner is stuck with the answer given. (Rule of Competition 4.6)

Some questions have been edited for the sake of clarity and brevity.

CASE CLARIFICATIONS – Answers Provided:

Q: Should the references to Jordan Simon that use “she” and “her” be changed to “he/she” and “his/her”?

A: Jordan is defined in these case materials as a female, and all references to her are intentionally female. P. 27, L. 141, which refers to Jordan Simon as a "s/he," is a mistake.

Q: I have a heavily male gendered team and many of the witness names (Kelly, Lynn, and Aubrey) call for female witnesses. We understand Kelly may have to be female because of her past with a teenage pregnancy - but wonder about Lynn and Aubrey.

A: Please note that gender for witnesses is neutral in the problems and may be assigned as needed by the team. All witnesses may be either male or female: the case materials make it clear that the RGHS boys’ and girls’ teams practiced together. We use names that can be used by both genders. Kelly, Lynn and Aubrey and all of the other witnesses may be either male or female. Although Kelly is common as a girls’ name, there are many famous male Kellys, including Kelly Slater (a professional surfer) and Kellys Campbell and Gregg of the National Football League. Although the most famous sporting Lynn is certainly Lynn Swann, the Hall of Fame wide receiver for the Pittsburgh Steelers, you might also have heard of Lynn Ryan. He was better known in his pitching career by his middle name, Nolan. And Aubrey is a thoroughly neutral name, with numerous men and women bearing it through the generations. Your students will probably be most familiar with Aubrey Graham, a Canadian male who sings and raps under his middle name, Drake.

A teenage pregnancy impacts both the father and the mother, and the materials are clear that the Simons treated the responsibility for raising Jordan as one to be borne by each of them equally.

Editor’s Note: Any witness identifier which only denotes a single gender should be changed: Ex. 6, page 63, includes an email from Kelly Simon to "Mr." Hagar. That should read "Mr./Ms." Hagar.

Q: P. 38, L. 40 - Should the word be "injury," not "industry."

A: Yes, the word is “injury”.

Q: In your pronunciations, the materials seem to indicate that Ruffed should be split into 2 syllables, whereas the normal pronunciation of our state bird is as if the word were "Ruft." Were you guys being intentionally cute, or was that an error?

A: The correct pronunciation is in fact - (ruhft graUs). Although the authors often attempt cuteness, in this instance, the error was simply in allowing our Anglophile to handle the pronunciation guide.

Q: It is important for us to know what was sent home, and none of the witnesses or materials clearly indicate that. This could put witnesses in a difficult place where they are sure what is unfair extrapolation about the materials that were part of the packet that was sent home by Coach Swift with the track athletes at the start of the season.

A: This is an intentional and challenging aspect of the case, but it is not a question that is easily answered. Whether an extrapolation is "fair" or not depends on whether it is neutral or could reasonably be inferred from the case materials. If you have concluded that "none of the witnesses or materials clearly indicate" that an item was sent home, then you are at risk that a judge will determine that nothing can be reasonably inferred about what was sent home.

For reasons that we hope will be apparent, we cannot opine on whether your characterization of the case materials in that respect is accurate.

Q: Once again we have a case where the Plaintiff (or a portion thereof) is deceased. This of course creates the interesting challenge of not being able to properly question the witness and that witness' statements possibly being hearsay. So, we are wondering whether the deceased, Jordan Simon, and/or her mother, Kelly Simon, are "Party Opponents" in the case. We wanted clarification because of the way that the Plaintiff is listed as "Kelly Simon, As Administrator of the Estate of Jordan Simon." It is important to have this handled equitably across the competition so that we don't have various judges' interpretations significantly change the outcome of each case by either blocking or allowing significant amounts of evidence.

A: Kelly Simon is the Administrator of the Estate and, by virtue of Paragraph 3 of the Complaint and the Answer thereto, it is agreed that s/he is Jordan's sole heir. Moreover, the Court has already determined that the Estate's recovery must be reduced based on any negligence by Kelly Simon. See Memorandum and Order at 1 (page 8 of case materials). Accordingly, she is considered a party to the action. An Estate likewise stands in the shoes of the decedent.

What implications this has for individual evidentiary rulings is a matter for individual teams to argue and their respective judges to determine.

Q: Is the "$5,000,000" amount stated in paragraph 39(b) on page 4 of the Complaint a misprint? Under the Pennsylvania Rules of Civil Procedure, a party can only plead unliquidated (compensatory) damages in the amount that exceeds the amount required for compulsory arbitration, which in Pennsylvania is "in excess of $50,000." Did the typist get an extra 0 in there? Mindful that the pleadings are not evidence under Mock Trial rules, it could come into play in openings, closings, or even cross.

A: It is not a typographical error. That is the amount demanded by plaintiff. To the extent that it is inconsistent with the Pennsylvania Rules of Civil Procedure, strictly interpreted, we note only that the case committee tries to track them and court procedure as realistically as we can, but we do not comply strictly with them when doing so would constrain the competition in ways that are unhelpful. We try never to be unrealistic in the larger scope of the case, but if we have to bend a rule of procedure here or there, we're willing to do that.

CASE CLARIFICATIONS – No Answers Provided

The answer to all of the following questions is:

“The case materials provide all of the information available to answer this question.”

As noted, this response sometimes means there is enough information already in the problem; more often, this response means the question was not addressed in the case materials and the answer to the question is unnecessary for purposes of this competition.

Q: Exhibit 3 misspells the word "strictly" as "strickly." Intentional or a typo? If the latter, will you correct the exhibit, or let it be?

Q: When going through Aubrey Brady's witness statement. It says, "I grew up in Washington, D.C., in the shadow of the greatest university in these United States: Georgetown." It says later, "But I had a degree in English" Did Aubrey get her degree in English from Georgetown?

1/10/14

Q: It was mentioned that drugs were found in the locker room. Is this locker room reserved for track members or all teams? Furthermore, is it a boys or girls locker room?

Q: How old is Leonia Hamline?

Q: I have a question concerning the cause Jordan Simon's death. It is stipulated in the case materials that Jordan Simon died of the consumption of EPO, but it was never clarified if the EPO was synthetic or naturally produced EPO. My confusion stems from the word, consumption. Has it been proven the Jordan Simon's death was in fact from synthetic EPO?

1/17/14

Q: What schools in the area test for performance enhancing drugs?

Q: If any schools do test for PEDs, do any of them compete against Ruffed Grouse?

- Q: What was the cause of Keane Simon's seizure?
- Q: Did Keane Simon have a history of seizures before his/her accident?
- Q: What does EPO look like?
- Q: What does a B12 injection look like?
- Q: Did Kelly Simon actually receive the 2013 drug and alcohol form? If so, why did he/she not sign it?
- Q: Which supplements was Terry Swift asking Jordan to take other than B12?
- Q: What the physical effects of B12 and any other supplements recommended by Swift?
- Q: Did Coach Swift recommend B12 injections or the oral form of the supplement?
- Q: What is the cost of the supplements recommended by Coach Swift? Would any of them cost $25,000?
- Q: What training secrets was Coach Swift trying to hide by implementing the Honor Code?
- Q: Did anyone test what was in the vials in Jordan's room?
- Q: What test is conducted to test for EPO?
- Q: What traces does EPO leave behind to differentiate it from other drugs?
- Q: Does the test account for natural variability of EPO levels from one individual to the next?
- Q: Could anything else account for the high EPO levels in Jordan's body?
- Q: Is a person who is having a heart attack or seizure hypoxic?
- Q: Is a copy of the autopsy available?
- Q: What is Terry Swift's extension at Ruffed Grouse?
- Q: What is the phone number of the ISPAC hotline?
- Q: What was the content of the call between Terry Swift and the hotline?
- Q: Was the call to the hotline recorded?

Q: Is a transcript of the recording available?

Q: How long did Jordan's autopsy take?

Q: Was Kelly Simon aware of the autopsy findings when he/she destroyed the vials in Jordan's room?

Q: Why did Kelly Simon destroy the vials in Jordan's room? Why did he/she not consider them to be evidence?

Q: Did Terry Swift have any medical or nutrition counseling training?

Q: What actions did Kelly Simon take at home to improve Jordan's times?

Q: Why did Kelly Simon not seek medical attention for Jordan's headaches?

Q: Did Kelly Simon discuss the use of PED's with Jordan? What did they discuss?

Q: What was Keane Simon's role in the manufacture of pharmaceuticals? What pharmaceuticals did he/she make?

Q: Why did Morgan consider suicide?

Q: Did Morgan feel guilty about Jordan's death?

Q: How often and for how long did Kelly Simon use steroids? Were they effective?

Q: Was Jordan aware that Kelly Simon had used steroids?

Q: What colleges were recruiting Jordan? What offers had been made?

Q: The Brochure (PEDs: The Ugly Truth) that is in Exhibit 2 is not clearly identified as being written by ISPAC or Ruffed Grouse. Who wrote the brochure?

Q: Additionally, it is not clearly indicated in the witness statements whether or not that brochure was ever given to students or sent home to parents. Can you clarify if and/or when this was ever distributed?

Q: Also, the ISPAC forms, which were signed by the parents reference "Zero Tolerance Policy Material". That does NOT seem to be the same thing as the brochure. Can you clarify that?

RULE AND EVIDENTIARY QUESTIONS:

12/3/13

No new rule and evidentiary questions have been asked but these questions and answers from last year might help teams prepare for the trials:

Q: We have a question about the contents of openings and closings. We understand that it is against the rules to use outside sources, but is it against that rule to use famous quotes or poetry in openings and closings?

A: The use of quotes, illustrative examples and other thematic elements is in the discretion of the judge. There is no mock trial rule that forbids doing so, and many teams have found it effective. Mock trial rules forbid use of outside sources to conduct research into the facts, history, science or legal structure surrounding the cases. They do not foreclose the use of rhetorical devices.

Teams should note, however, that certain quotes or themes may be objectionable for other reasons. For example, in opening, a quote could be so argumentative as to be objectionable, or quotes could prejudice the jury or confuse the issues. For example, some courts have prohibited prosecutors from using biblical passages demanding harsh vengeance, even while other biblical passages are considered appropriate. There is no one-size-fits-all answer to this question, either way.

Likewise, many judges forbid the use of rhetorical devices asking the jurors “what would you do” or asking them to place themselves in the defendants’ or witnesses’ shoes, at least in regular practice. That is thought to be a violation of the rules of the courtroom and/or the rules of professional responsibility. There is no express prohibition on doing so in the mock trial rules, but teams should be aware that attorneys and judges serving as scorers are cautioned against rhetoric that asks the jury to put themselves into the case. Although local practice may differ from county to county, many scoring judges may react negatively to the use of such devices.

Q: I have a question regarding the Mock Trial Competition rule 6.22. This rule states that there is to be “no communication among team members, other than the six students participating as attorneys or witnesses in that trial.” I am unclear as to whether this means that the witnesses in the active trial are allowed to communicate with the attorneys and vice versa. I have always been under the impression that the attorneys were allowed to communicate with one another, but they were not allowed to communicate with the witnesses. If I could have clarification on this rule, it would be much appreciated.

A: Teams have 6 members--three lawyers and three witnesses-in each trial. Those six can communicate in ways that are non-disruptive and that do not violate the rules (i.e., no one but the examining lawyer can question, respond to objections, etc.). There may also be communication, about time issues only, allowed under the timing rules with a 7th member of the team, the student timekeeper.

In those districts and regions that allow more than three attorneys, all attorneys actively participating in the trial of a round (i.e. who have a role in the round in question, whether it be opening, closing, direct or cross) may participate in such discussions.

Teams are advised that scoring judges may observe witness behavior throughout a trial and score it as they see fit. Accordingly, students who are portraying witnesses with no legal training who appear to be repeatedly feeding objections to an examining attorney may not be felt to have remained in their role. Teams may therefore wish to be especially judicious or circumspect in their communications with their witnesses, even if those communications are permitted under the rules.

Q: Can teams object to the content inside the exhibits?

A: There is nothing sacred about exhibits or about the factual material contained in them. Except to the extent that it is otherwise stipulated, every exhibit is subject to objection in whole or in part on any grounds. Notably, however, Stipulation 1 excludes authenticity as a grounds of objection with respect to all exhibits.

Q: The rule of hearsay and its exceptions confuses us. If the speaker is dead and told a witness or a witness heard something they said, is that an exception?

A: You are not alone. Hearsay is a challenging rule, and it often fools even experienced attorneys. If a statement is admissible pursuant to Rules 801 or 803, the fact that the declarant is dead (or otherwise unavailable) will not make it inadmissible. Rule 804 provides additional hearsay exceptions for unavailable witnesses. If a statement does not fall within the exclusions in Rule 801 or the exceptions in Rules 803 and 804, however, the fact that its declarant is dead does not provide a special basis for its admission.

Q: Can the defense attorney defer making his/her opening statement until after prosecuting witnesses have testified?

A: No. Pursuant to Rule 6.23, the sequence of the trial is: Opening Statements [plural], then Evidence Presentation, then Closing Arguments. This Rule is designed to assist the scoring judges in making a direct, like-to-like comparison between the performances of the students presenting the opening statements. It also mediates the impact of not allowing the prosecution to make a rebuttal case by allowing the prosecution to anticipate to some degree the defense case, based on its opening statement.

Q: Is the team allowed to demur or move for a directed verdict (because prosecution/plaintiff hasn't proven the case)?

A: No. In a criminal trial, the defendant would ask for a motion for judgment of acquittal, requesting the court to rule that the prosecution has not proven its case beyond a reasonable doubt, and in a civil trial, would raise a motion for nonsuit or a directed verdict, arguing that the court should rule the plaintiff has not proved its case by a preponderance of the evidence. Accordingly, because they must be raised by way of a motion, any requests for a judgment of acquittal, nonsuit or directed verdict are prohibited under Rule 6.20. Judges are instructed to tell the scoring judges that fact if one is raised.

Nor can a team elect not to put on a defense case; Rule 4.1 requires teams to call all of their witnesses.

Q: Are any of the witnesses identified as expert witnesses? If so, does that mean that under direct examination a foundation for their expertise does not have to be established?

A: "expert witnesses" is used in Rule 4.9, which states:

4.9 Expert Witnesses

Some witnesses in the case materials may be identified as expert witnesses. In such a case, the fact of the witness' expertise may not be questioned; however, the expert's credibility may be otherwise impeached on cross examination. Witnesses not specifically identified as experts may be qualified as such if the proper foundation is laid. In either case, the expert's qualifications, credibility, biases and the scope and depth of her/his expertise may be otherwise raised on cross examination.

Technically, under this Rule, since "the fact of the witness' expertise may not be questioned" a team could elect to forego laying a foundation on its expert's expertise ("competency"), although the other team would remain free to impeach the expert as noted above.

Q: Based upon your past answers, if we impeach by omission we are we are bound by the witness's answer under Rule of Evidence 611(b). [see Question 23 below, in the Previous Competition Question section] However, if the witness just makes up something supporting their side, is there really anything stopping us from just doing a normal impeachment proving they just lied about the prior statement?

A: There is no express rule that precludes a team from doing so. However, consistent with the mock trial rules, a witness might respond that the question asked for an answer that was not in the witness statement and that s/he was just answering the question asked. Alternatively, her/his attorney might object to the impeachment on the grounds that it is improper, because the witness answered a question that was not in her/his statement and that pursuant to Rule of Competition 4.6 and Rule of Evidence 611(b)(2) the questioner is bound by the answer given. In either case, the impeachment would be contrary to both the rules and the spirit of the competition.

Q: Must all jury members be provided a copy of the Guidelines for Jurors \(Scoring Judges\)?

A: Jurors (scoring judges) may or may not be provided with a copy of the Guidelines. Generally, trial coordinators are encouraged to provide such copies to jurors. In addition, jurors at all levels of the competition are normally provided with a pre-trial orientation by the trial coordinator which generally includes a discussion of scoring issues.

Q: The current score sheet does not have a comments section. Will the jury be encouraged to give comments for team improvement?

A: The score sheet specifically states that comments can be made by jurors on the back of the score sheet. Jurors may comment as they wish.

Q: Can we write on a white board, blackboard or flip chart during their closing arguments?

A: No – it is a prop. (Rule of Competition 6.14.)

Q: Can the defendant be asked questions about what other witnesses say at trial since this witness is not considered sequestered under Rule 4.7?

A: No. Such questioning is explicitly prohibited by Rule of Competition 4.5.

Q: Can the student presenting the opening also present two cross examinations?

A: Yes. Rule of Competition 6.10.

Q: Can we use cases we find in the materials during the trial?

A: Please read the Answers provided below to Questions 19 and 20 in the “Questions From Previous Competitions” Section which should answer your question. With regard to citing legal opinions, we add the caveat to Answer 20 that only those parts of cases specifically cited in the materials can be used.

1/10/14

Q: May an examining attorney make an objection to the answer of a witness and then follow with a motion to strike or a request to instruct the jury to disregard the testimony? I know that motions are generally not allowed, but is this an exception?

And

Q: Was the whole 'permitted objections Rule 611 left out of this year's case Rules of Evidence because we are using the Federal Rules of Evidence and permitted objections are understood?

A: Regarding the "No Motions" rule, we explicitly allowed a motion to strike in our old set of Rules of Evidence (old rule 611(f)) before we replaced that set with the National-based set used for the 2013 competition. Our current Rule of Competition 6.20, which states no motions allowed except as otherwise permitted in Rules of Evidence, was a reference to that prior Rule of Evidence which permitted motions to strike.

There is no good reason we should not allow a motion to strike. Unfortunately, when we amended the Rules of Evidence before last year's competition, we failed to note that Rule 6.20 relied on the old rules of evidence to make sense of it. It was an oversight which will be formally corrected in the text of next year's Rule of Competition 6.20.

Because it was never the Executive Committee's intent to preclude motions to strike, we will adopt that as an interpretation of Rule 6.20 for the time being. Accordingly, for this year's competition, as in years past, the only motion that will be allowed is a motion to strike testimony following a successful objection to its admission.

Q: I could not find a jury instruction on the term 'negligence' in the materials. It seems this is an important instruction and can help the attorney to form a closing argument. Failure to act as a reasonable and prudent person under the same or similar circumstances?

Negligence

The legal term "negligence," otherwise known as carelessness, is the absence of ordinary care that a reasonably prudent person would use in the circumstances presented here. A person must act in a reasonably careful manner to avoid injuring, harming, or damaging others. The care required varies according to the circumstances and the degree of danger at a particular time.

Negligent conduct may consist either of an act or a failure to act when there is a duty to do so. In other words, negligence is the failure to do something that a reasonably careful person would do, or doing something that a reasonably careful person would not do, in light of all the surrounding circumstances established by the evidence in this case. It is for you to decide how a reasonably careful person would act in those circumstances.

Q: I read in the materials of the "Developmental Teams." How do I find out if we are one? Also, can I have the identity of some other 'first time' teams so that we can invite them to participate with us in a practice trial?

To encourage creative evolution of the program, the statewide competition allows local districts and regions to develop special programs. In some regions, a developmental competition is held. Please check with your local coordinator to find out if such a program exists in your region. Your local coordinator can also share with you the contact information for teams you might ask to scrimmage.

Q: Our team is questioning the timing—does our time include what the other team does? We have a question about the proper application of Rule of Competition 6.23 - Time Sequence and Time Limits. The rule states that each team has a thirty minute block of time to complete all of its evidentiary presentations, including reading any stipulations to the jury and its direct, re-direct, cross, and re-cross examinations. If our team is representing the plaintiff, does that mean that our thirty minute block of time encompasses (1) the time we use on cross and re-cross of defense witnesses or (2) the time used by the defense attorneys in crossing and re-crossing our witnesses?

Your team gets timed for the things it does, not the things the other side does. If your team is representing the plaintiff, your thirty minute block of time encompasses the time you use for direct and re-direct of your own (plaintiff) witnesses and the cross and re-cross of your opponent's (defense) witnesses. Your time also includes certain other defined matters, such as the time you take (if any) reading stipulations to the jury.

Q: Can the memorandum and opinion be used during the trial?

The answer to this question depends on what you mean by being "used." They may not be introduced into evidence, read to the jury, or used to examine a witness, either on direct or on cross examination. So in that sense, they are quite different than the other case materials and cannot be "used" at trial.

However, pursuant to Rule 3.2, they are included in the case materials. Accordingly, the legal standards stated by the Court in the memorandum and opinion can be used to characterize the legal burdens for the jury in opening or closing argument, and the cases/decisional law cited in the opinion can be used in speaking to the jury. Teams are advised, however, that the Court would only instruct the jury using the jury instructions provided, and thus that to the extent that something in the memorandum and opinion conflicts with the jury instructions, they would risk confusing the jury or seeming not to know the law.

None of the factual conclusions or opinions of the court ("this is a closer call" or "there is a significant factual dispute") should be used in the trial in any way.

Q: We had an issue where the opposing team cited that case material affidavits are 'hearsay' and the exhibits are 'hearsay' Both objections were sustained. There isn't much that can be done if case materials are thrown out. Are these materials in fact 'hearsay'?

This is a question that arises from time to time, and it's worth discussing in some depth. An out-of-court statement being used for the truth of the matter is hearsay, unless some portion of Rule of Evidence 801 excludes it. (For example, statements of a party are never hearsay when they are being introduced by that party's opponent, i.e. if the defense is introducing the plaintiff's own statements.)

So the first answer is that it depends what the statement is being used to do. For example, if it is being used to impeach or to show a subsequent course of conduct, and not for the truth of the matter asserted in the statement, then it is not hearsay.

The second answer is that some exception to hearsay may address a particular statement. So, for example, if the exhibit is a record of a regularly conducted business activity or a public record, an exception to the hearsay rule applies.

One also must note that certain exhibits, such as a photograph, are likely not "statements" at all and are therefore not hearsay.

Other than that, however, the basic answer is that your opponent is correct. The statements themselves are made out of court, and they cannot be introduced for the truth of the matter asserted.

However, your statement that "There isn't much that can be done if case materials are thrown out" might suggest a fundamental misunderstanding. Take, for example, the second sentence in the first statement: "My spouse, Keane, died when Jordan was only two." The facts alleged in that statement are not hearsay. Accordingly, if Kelly Simon was asked "When did your spouse die?," one could not object to her/him answering "When Jordan was only two," because that is a fact is not hearsay if the witness testifies to it in court. (Hearsay is, by definition, an out of court statement.) However, if Kelly is asked "Didn't you say in your affidavit that your spouse died when Jordan was only two?," then unless one of the foregoing exceptions applies (most likely impeachment), the question may well be hearsay. The distinction is that the former version asks about a fact the witness knows, while the latter asks about an out of court statement that the witness made.

Exhibits are addressed similarly. Take, for example, the first line of Exhibit 7, "When Lance Armstrong went down, I cried." That is an out of court statement by the author of the article, Mary N. Jones. If it is offered to prove that when Mary N. Jones heard that Lance Armstrong went down, she actually cried, it is a hearsay statement unless some other exception applies.

In short, everything in the case materials is subject to objection, if there is a valid objection. But many of the things that could be the subject of such an objection are admissible through a witness directly... and are admissible to impeach a witness who lies about them.

Q: Looking through the rules, I know that I cannot use a white board during opening or closing, but can I use one on direct examination?

No white boards, electronic devices of any kind, or any other presentation materials may be used during any portion of the trial.

Q: Looking at the above, I know lawyers cannot use a white board during any part of the trial, but can our timer use a small white board to write and then erase the times during the trial?

Rule 6.28.2 (as amended this year) states that a student timekeeper may use individual cards or hand signals, so long as they are unobtrusive, and that such cards may be created during the trial. For environmental reasons, student timekeepers may use white boards for this purpose, so long as they are small enough to be unobtrusive and no other information is provided on them other than the time.

Q: Portions of the case supplement appear to contradict. It sounds like we are allowed to research PEDs (the problem authors seem to encourage it) and include that information in our arguments on one hand, but that it is prohibited on the other. Can you please clarify?

The use of outside resources is covered by Rule 6.15 Outside Materials, which says that if a student uses materials or items not included in the case materials or either cites or makes reference to any case or statute not included in the case materials, the opposing team can object and then the jurors can be informed of the violation to consider in scoring. Rule of Competition 3.5 states that students may only cite cases and statutes given and may introduce as evidence only those document and materials provided and in the form provided would govern as well. Also, in Rule & Evidentiary Questions in the "Supplement to Case Materials" it says that "Mock Trial rules forbid use of outside sources to conduct research into the facts, science or legal structure surrounding the cases." This would again seem to foreclose the use of outside research regarding PEDs.

The confusion may be coming from the Supplement to Case Materials that says "Teams are welcome, nevertheless, to study anything they wish to study in preparation for the competition, and the Mock Trial Committee hopes students branch out and learn much more about the issues involved in the case." We hope students are curious about issues they read about in the case materials and we encourage them to research on their own those issues that spark that curiosity or matter in their lives. We certainly believe that PED use among athletes is such an issue.

However, during a competition round, the mock trial competition is limited to the case materials provided. The only way anything outside of the case materials can be brought in is if a cross examination question asks a witness to go beyond the scope of the witness' statement. That scenario is addressed in Rule 4.6.

Q: Is time paused during objections?

Yes.

Q: Rule 4.5 provides that "A witness may not be asked questions about information contained in another witness' statement/affidavit. Nor may a witness be asked questions about what another witness testified to." In this case, both experts testify to having reviewed all the other witnesses' statements, and they seem to base their opinions on facts not directly mentioned in their statement. Can they testify to those facts as the basis for their opinion without running afoul of Rule 4.5?

This is a very interesting question, and it involves Rules of Competition 4.5 and 4.6 and Rule of Evidence 703. An expert is permitted to base her/his opinion on any facts of which s/he is aware, even if those facts would otherwise be hearsay. And the experts each identify the materials that they reviewed in order to avoid running afoul of Rule 4.6 (see specifically the second bulleted example).

So the answer is twofold. First, each expert may be examined or cross-examined on the facts that they considered in forming their opinion. Even if some of those facts come from other witness affidavits or documents that they reviewed, they are fair game, because they were identified by the experts items they considered.

However, that does not mean that the experts can testify substantively to every fact in another witness's statement. Rather, on direct examination, they may only introduce those materials that they identify as forming the basis of their opinion or that the statement reasonably suggests that they relied upon in forming that opinion. On cross-examination, they may be questioned more broadly about facts that they considered, but they cannot be used to introduce for the truth of the matter asserted any facts that they read elsewhere. Such facts are only admissible to buttress or discredit their opinions.

Q: Still kind of confused about the hearsay objection. Can Morgan Pearce talk about a conversation she had with Jordan?

Hearsay's hard, and this particular set of hearsay questions is more challenging than some, but we can't be any more specific than we already have been. Some things just have to be argued, and part of mock trial (and for that matter, real trial practice) is preparing your case without knowing how certain pieces of evidence will be treated.

QUESTIONS FROM PREVIOUS COMPETITIONS

Team Issues: Team Composition, Scouting, Scrimmaging and Outside Tournaments

1. May residents of other states compete in the competition (the situation involves a cyber-school student who resides in New Jersey).
  - The competition is for students attending Pennsylvania schools. As long as a student is a properly registered student in a Pennsylvania school of any type, that student may compete. With regard to the eligibility of students home schooled in Pennsylvania, their eligibility is addressed in Rule of Competition 2.1.2.
2. May an 8th grader compete on a team? May a post graduate student compete?
  - Rule 2.1 limits teams to 9th-12th graders. If a team doesn't have enough students in those grades to field a team and seeks to use others, such as an 8th grader or a student who has graduated but may be earning additional credits at the school or is in some sort of post high school exchange program, to create a team, that team can seek special permission from the local coordinator to compete locally. However, if permitted, a team that includes others besides 9th to 12th graders cannot advance beyond the local competition to district or regional playoffs.
3. Can two schools combine to field one team?
  - If the only way the two schools can compete is by creating a single team, then a combined team may compete only with special permission of the district and regional coordinators. However, the combined team may not advance beyond the local competition to district or regional playoffs.
4. May students from one school sit in the court room and watch other schools' teams compete?
  - No, if that student's school has a team in the mock trial competition. Yes, if that student's school has no team in the MT competition and the student has no other conflicts, and also if that student's school did have a team in the competition but the team is done competing.
5. Is it okay that students from one school sit in the courtroom and watch their fellow students compete against another school?
  - Yes, so long as those students does not compete on a second team from their school.
6. If a school has more than one team, and if the second team is knocked out of the competition, can the advisor from team knocked out help coach the team still in (the advisor has not seen any of the other teams we would compete against)?

- If there is absolutely no chance the still competing team will compete against a team that the advisor previously observed as an advisor of the knocked out team, then the knocked out team advisor may help with the team still in the competition.
7. Our team wants to watch other teams in a practice event before the real competition begins. Does this violate the “No Scouting Rule”?
- It is not a violation under our Competition Rules. Teams that participate in camps and other open pre-statewide program competitions allow their teams to be observed by anyone in attendance, subject to the rules of that competition. Our “No Scouting” prohibition refers only to our competition.
8. Are teams allowed to practice in the courthouse in which they will be competing?
- There is no prohibition against such a practice under state rules.
9. Can we scrimmage other teams in the competition?
- Yes. We encourage teams to scrimmage each other, participate in the mock trial camps certain counties hold, and take advantage of any pre-statewide program competitions offered such as those that will be held this coming January by various colleges and schools.
10. What happens when teams drop out?
- The local coordinator will reschedule trials and may have to create byes for some teams depending upon how late into the competition the drop out occurs. Teams are urged to contact their coordinator ASAP if they think they might not be able to follow through on their commitment. Late drop outs are a great inconvenience to other teams and volunteers working for the program. In the case of repeat offenders, teams may be banned from the competition for a period of time.
11. Can a single teacher [or attorney] coach two teams?
- Under Rule of Competition 2.5, multiple teams from the same school are viewed as distinct. They may not communicate with each other about other teams once the competition begins since that would violate our anti-scouting prohibition. Thus, for practical purposes, a single teacher and a single lawyer might train and prepare two teams together; however, once either of those coaches takes a team to competition, they could not take the other team to another competition since they might meet common opponents in the future.

Even if coaches don't share information between their two teams, the appearance would be otherwise and this would directly violate the no scouting rules. It is possible for a school with one primary teacher coach and two teams to enlist another teacher or a lawyer coach to basically chaperone for one team while the primary teacher coach leads the other team. Once a teacher or attorney attaches him or herself to one team that person is then unavailable to accompany the school's other team in future matches.

Once the two teams from the same school have had their first trials, they need to be reminded that they cannot share information about opposing teams. A difficult situation would arise for a teacher coach or lawyer coach who works with one team that is eliminated and then has an interest in a remaining team that would compete against a team that the eliminated team competed against. The teacher or lawyer coach could observe but could not coach (teams out of the competition may observe without violating the no scouting rules).

Trial Issues

12. May we laminate the exhibits to better preserve them?

- No. This violates Rule of Competition 5.1.

13. Pursuant to Rules of Competition 5.1 and 5.7: Can the exhibits to be entered into evidence be placed in plastic slip-cover page protectors to protect them from accidental spills?

- A team may keep their exhibits in plastic slip covers at their attorney table but each exhibit must be removed from any cover and submitted in its original form when used during the proceedings.

14. Can we enlarge case materials or exhibits? Also, can we develop a timeline, enlarge it, and use it during opening statements and closing arguments?

- Rule of Competition 5.1 prohibits enlarging exhibits. Creating and presenting a timeline as a physical reference for the jury is also prohibited.

15. Can we take to trial and use our laptop computers?

- You may not use laptops at trial unless the use of a laptop is a specifically required accommodation for a disability covered under the ADA. If needed under ADA compliance, the laptop must have no internet access and contain only the materials of competition otherwise available in paper form to all other competing students. (Rule of Competition 6.4.)

16. Can we ask the witness to step down for a demonstrative purpose?

- There is nothing in the Rules that prohibit an attempt to do this. The trial judge will determine whether it is permitted.

17. Can a previously introduced exhibit be re-shown to the jury during closing arguments?

- Yes, assuming the exhibit was admitted into evidence.

18. Clock Issues: When entering in exhibits, does the clock stop when counsel says "Your honor, May I approach the witness?" Does it start again when counsel asks the next question such as "Can you identify this?" Or after counsel actually has the exhibit entered? Second, when counsel is impeaching a witness, does the clock stop when handing opposing counsel and the witness an affidavit? And when does it begin again?

- Please review Rule of Competition 6.26. Generally, the clock runs at all times when an attorney is examining a witness concerning an exhibit. The clock stops during the marking of exhibits and when exhibit is being shown to opposing counsel except when the examining attorney continues to question the witness.

19. May the information in the Statement of Facts, Complaint and Answer be used during the trial as credible sources of evidence?

- That depends. None of the pleadings are evidence in themselves, and none would be admissible as a whole at trial. However, that is not to say that they have no evidentiary value. All evidence must come in through witnesses, via their statements and exhibits, or through stipulations between the parties. The statement of facts, the complaint and the answer are not evidence in themselves, but the Answer has evidentiary value if the defendant attempts to deny a fact admitted there. The plaintiff's attorney could then impeach the witness with her/his prior admission, as with any other prior, unsworn statement. In this, the Complaint might be necessary, as the wording of the Answer alone (i.e., "Admitted") alone may provide insufficient basis for impeachment. The Statement of Facts is a part of the problem to which no party has assented. It therefore cannot be used at trial by either party in any way.

20. Can information, cases, opinions cited in the problem be used in the trial?

- Students are permitted to read other cases and materials in preparation for the mock trial. However, they may cite only the cases and statutes given and may introduce as evidence only those documents and materials provided and in the form provided. (Rule of Competition 3.5.)

Teams are welcome, nevertheless, to study anything they wish to study in preparation for the competition, and the Mock Trial Committee hopes students branch out and learn much more about the issues involved in the case.

21. Can you file a Motion to Pre-admit in which you inform the court of your desire to use certain items of tangible evidence (exhibits in the case materials) during your opening statement?

- No. Rule of Competition 6.20 explicitly prohibits pretrial motions.
22. Are teams permitted to make the objection: "Objection, Narrative" during the opposing team's direct examination? If this is not permitted, should a sidebar be called?
- Technically, this objection is not specifically prohibited under our Rules (See Rule of Evidence 611(e)). However, an objection that the witness is providing a narrative answer may be more appropriately objected to as being non-responsive, irrelevant and/or an unfair extrapolation. These are all objections specifically permitted under Rule 611(e).
23. Can we impeach by omission?
- The Rules warn attorneys against asking a question of a witness for information that is not in the witness' statement. If you do so, the witness is free to make up information. Rule of Competition 4.6 addresses this issue.
24. May a judge preside over the district playoff if he/she was already a judge for one of the earlier district trials?
- Yes. A presiding judge who has participated in an earlier trial is not disqualified from presiding in a later trial involving the same team, absent some other basis for disqualification.
25. May we bring transcription students to a mock trial to transcribe proceedings? Neither team will get a copy of the transcription until after the competition is completed.

As long as teams face the same circumstances, no problem arises. However, the reporter may not be asked to read back testimony since so our rules do not provide for that circumstance.
